ANOTHER CHANCE TO GET FACTORY

Representative of Large Malleable Iron Works Makes Known Proposition to Y. M. C. C.

CONCERN IS COMING WEST

And Company's Man Visits Rushville as Probable Site—Would Invest $110,000 at Once.

A representative of a large malleable iron works factory was here today looking over Rushville's advantages. The concern is a large one and will move west in the near future to be more centrally located. The representative who was here today has been in a few other cities and will choose a site for the factory soon.

He gave the Young Men's Commercial Club his proposition straight out and there will be no contest for the location of the factory after he makes his decision and the proposition is accepted.

For instance if the Commercial Club here decides it is a good proposition and the representative decides Rushville is the place for the factory all dealings with any other city will be dropped at once and the company will locate here.

The company proposes to erect a new building as soon as the city is selected. This building together with the machinery will cost about $110,000 and the factory will employ about 175 men at once. The company is now doing a big business in the east and the only object in coming west is to get nearer the center of population.

The representative here today was well pleased with Rushville's advantages and his proposition is said to be reasonable. The Young Men's Commercial Club will make further investigation of the concern at once.

GRAND JURY WILL BEGIN TOMORROW

Hints of How Much Work Ahead and Several Indictments are Expected Before Adjournment.

THIS TERM BUSY LAST YEAR.

The grand jury has been called to begin its regular September investigation Thursday. It is said that this session will be an unusually busy one, and that before it adjourns there will be plenty doing. Of course, there is much secrecy as to what the grand jury will do, and nothing definite is known outside the inner circle. However, there are hints that several indictments on various counts are expected. It was the September term of the grand jury last year that the now famous whitecapping indictments were returned.

ASK A CHANGE IN GREEN GOODS CASE

Attorneys For P. S. Daubenspeck Say he Can't Get Fair Trial in This County.

NO RULING ON MOTION YET

If Philip S. Daubenspeck has his way about it he will not be tried in this county in connection with the recent green goods case in the eastern part of the county. His attorneys Megee & Kiplinger filed a motion for a change of venue this morning alleging that he could not get a fair trial in this county because people generally had read and heard too much about the case to give the defendant a fair trial and unprejudiced hearing. The court has not yet ruled on the motion.

FORD OF HORROR TO BE BRIDGED

County Council Makes Appropriation For New Structure Over Flatrock Near Moscow.

SCENE OF MANY DROWNINGS

Question Has Been at Issue Eight Years—Other Allowances Have Been Made.

People in Orange township will be happy when they hear the good news from the county council. In the regular appropriation made at the annual session today is $16,675 for bridges and out of this amount a new bridge is to be built at Maleom's ford just below Moscow. This ford is very dangerous and in it and near it many lives have been lost. This matter has been a live issue in Orange township for the last eight years and the people who have always been afraid of the ford will be more than glad to hear that the appropriation has been made. The total appropriation for bridges this year is larger than last year.

The county council has also made an appropriation to buy more ground for the poor farm. The council now has an option on a piece of ground owned by Russel Behout and the appropriation is to close this option. The ground is just west of the poor farm, and north of the fair ground.

The council has also decided to repair the court house roof but some investigation will be made as to the cost before the appropriation is made. The usual appropriations are being made and the council is still grinding away on the regular routine.

HALL IS NOW IN RICHMOND JAIL

The Alleged Insurance Swindler Who Worked Rushville Physician is Taken to Wayne County.

MAY BE BROUGHT HERE NEXT

If He Tries to Get Bail There he Will Be Arrested on Rush County Warrant.

Earl T. Hall, the alleged insurance grafter, who swindled a Rushville physician out of $30, and played the same trick with several other prominent physicians in Eastern Indiana, is one step nearer to local courts. He is now in jail at Richmond, having been taken there from Muncie, where he had been confined since his arrest at Lawrenceburg. If he attempts to obtain bail at Richmond, he will be brought here.

It appeared that no effort had been made to prosecute Hall in Muncie, and the State insurance officials deemed it best to bring him to Richmond, says the Richmond Item. An effort was made to have the county commissioners make an appropriation to cover the expenses of bringing Hall to Richmond. They refused and the insurance agents guaranteed the expenses in a telegram to the sheriff.

At the jail Tuesday morning Hall would not talk. He even refused to show himself at the bars for a conversation. He is well dressed and well educated and seems to have plenty of money. His case will not be taken up until after the adjournment of the grand jury. If he is able to secure bail here he will be immediately arrested on a warrant from Rush county.

Charley met him in Indianapolis Sunday and he and his wife are now guests at the Worth home on Fourth street.

SPORT PROMISES TO BE VERY POPULAR

Old Stars Are Getting Back in Form at Social Bowling Alleys—Scores Made.

CLUBS WILL BE ORGANIZED

The bowling season is open in earnest and the old bowlers are crowding around at the Social alleys every evening getting back in the old time form. The old stars who "batted around two hundred" all last winter did not loose much of their ability to roll this summer and are tearing off a two hundred clip rather regular.

In a few weeks it is planned to get the old bowling team in the working order-boiled up etc.—and go out to conquer world's unknown. They were the best in this neck of the woods last winter and still think they can keep up with previous records. Several crowds, who had bowling clubs last winter will organize again this winter and the sport promises to be more popular than ever.

DANIELS PLACE SONG TO SLEEP

Last Hours of Next to Last Saloon Were Orderly and Patrons Join in Song.

IT DIED AS IT HAD LIVED

Daniels Will go to Denver—the Only Remaining Liquor Dealer is Rushed.

With a few parting jests and drinks, a good patronage and many well wishes for the future, George Daniels closed his saloon last night and for the first time in many years the only one saloon is doing business in Rushville today. James A. Thompson, the remaining saloonkeeper, will close next Saturday night as the result of the county option election last winter. During the remaining days of the life of his saloon he expects to do a big business and the bar was crowded all of today.

As the Daniels saloon was about to close last night there were a few impromptu concerts and "some of the boys" who had been just a trifle indiscreet and taken on a few too many sang a few parting ditties before and after the saloon closed. "Farewell" was a favorite and four or five as they went home "a bit wobbly" were singing "Just before the Battle Mother." But as far as disorder went, there wasn't any. Not a single hoisterous fellow shadow to be reminded that he was in a civilized country and when it came to orderliness on the streets there was little difference last night from any other night. A picture of the interior of the place was taken yesterday.

Many remarked that the saloon "died as it had lived" in an orderly and law abiding manner. Even among those who are opposed to the licensed saloon there is some regret at seeing a man like Daniels put out of business for he has always been one of the law abiding saloonkeepers of the city, and never has there been a complaint made against the way he conducted his place.

Today workmen were busy clearing the furniture out of the building and it is understood that a lunch room will be started in the room. Mr. Daniels will go to Denver where he has purchased a large hotel.

FOUL MURDER IN MICHIGAN

Detroit Police Baffled by Shocking Tragedy.

EXHIBIT OF HUMAN BRUTALITY

With the identification of Dismembered Body Found in Creek as That of Miss Maybelle Millman of Ann Arbor, the Scene of the Investigation Has Shifted From Detroit to the University City—No Tangible Clue Has Been Offered to Perpetrator of Foul Crime.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—The dismembered body of Miss Maybelle Millman, aged twenty-seven, of Ann Arbor, Mich., bloodless from the ruthless knife of a murderer and shrunken by several days' immersion in the waters of Ecorse creek, lies in the county morgue, a pitiable exhibit of human brutality. The state has charitably drawn a shroud over the wasted human fragments, so that curious spectators who enter do not see that a portion of the lower part of the trunk of the unfortunate girl is still missing.

While determined men are dragging Ecorse creek night and day in the hope of discovering the remaining portion of the girl's body, the sheriffs of Wayne and Washtenaw counties and police of Ann Arbor and Detroit are uniting in a desperate endeavor to solve the mystery of Miss Millman's murder.

The girl's mother is semi-conscious at her home in the university city, having collapsed when the news was broken to her that the body found in Ecorse creek Monday had been identified as that of her daughter. Miss Martha Henning of 289 Cass avenue, Detroit, a former schoolmate of the Millman girl, gave the identification verdict which could not be disputed.

The scene of the investigation of the murder has shifted from Detroit to Ann Arbor. After prolonged questioning of Miss Henning, who identified the head of the body as that of her dearest girl chum, Maybelle, the officers left hurriedly for the university town. Sheriff Gaston and his deputies refuse to give out definitely the clue they are working on, but most of the questions put to Miss Henning were concerning Maybelle's physical condition, as the mutilated body leads the authorities to believe the cutting was done by someone well acquainted with surgery. Upon this point Miss Henning was unable to throw any light.

The county physician is now inclined to think that the girl, who was twenty-seven years old, was strangled to death before her arms, legs and head were cut off, the condition of the tongue and eyes indicating strangulation. The head and limbs were found sewed in the same kind of a burlap bag as the one containing the trunk. The sack was lying under the bridge about ten yards upstream from the place where the first bag was found, evidence almost indisputable that the body was thrown from the bridge.

MRS. BARCLAY WON

"Incubator Baby" Restored to Mother by Court.

Kansas City, Sept. 8.—The fight for the possession of Marian Bleakley, the "incubator baby," is at an end. So declared John R. Atwood in the circuit court here when he, on behalf of Mrs. James C. Barclay, withdrew the habeas corpus suit brought to prevent the return of the child to Mrs. J. J. Bleakley, from whose home little Marian was kidnapped.

Mrs. Barclay, in tears, said: "I'm so sorry, but I guess it was meant that I shouldn't have Marian. In a Buffalo bank, deposited to her name, is $931, which I shall arrange to have given her at once."

Costly Break in Big Dam.

M., Sept. 8.—The Bluewater Development company's dam, one of the largest private irrigation projects in the southwest, and the Zuni dam, a government reclamation project, both near Gallup, N. ## "Time's Flight Turned Backward" SAGE AND SULPHUR Made Her look Twenty Years Younger

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK ss. Rochester, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a school girl I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair, that was so plentiful, rich and glossy, that it was the envy of many of my young schoolmates, and attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. After I was married and as I grew older, my hair commenced to come out just a little at first, but gradually as time passed it came out more and more, and began to turn gray. I was induced by many good reports heard of Sage and Sulphur, to try a bottle. My hair was quite gray and thin on top when I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and you may imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, becoming thicker, darker, smoother and glossier than it had been for a long time. I continued the use of Sage and Sulphur and my hair is now in a splendid condition, as heavy and as dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. From my experience I believe it is one's own fault if they lose their hair, or let it get gray or harsh. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and still use it, and my hair still keeps thick, dark, smooth and glossy.

Sworn to before me this 15th day of July, 1902.
Notary Public.

BANK AT UPLAND CLOSES ITS DOORS

Grant County State Bank in Hands of Examiner.

Upland, Ind., Sept. 8.—Charles W. Camp, state bank examiner, has taken charge of the Grant County State bank, the only one in Upland. Loans made to a concern said to have been badly managed, which went into the hands of a receiver five weeks ago, are said to have one of the causes of the failure. These loans, it is asserted, were made during the time Charles W. Cole was president of the bank.

The bank is capitalized at $25,000, and when the doors were closed the deposits amounted to $52,000.

Sullivan T. Waite, who succeeded Cole as president, is quoted as saying the depositors will lose nothing. Mr. Waite is also reported as having said that the true condition of the bank, which has been having a hard time during the last year, was not made known to him at the time of his election.

The present officers are Sullivan T. Waite, president; S. R. Cole, Jr., vice president, and George C. Cole, cashier. The latter is a brother of the former president, who at present lives at Woodlawn, a suburb of Birmingham, Ala. The failure of the bank follows closely on the heels of the appointment of a receiver for the Upland Glass manufacturing company, of which the former bank president was one of the heaviest stockholders.

The closing of the bank is a hard blow to Upland. As it is the only institution of the kind here the funds of many are tied up in it and the placing of $52,000 out of circulation, even though it be temporarily, is seriously affecting the business interests.

FIND SACCHARINE IN SOFT DRINKS

State Officials Make Discovery in Examining Samples From All Over the State.

CHARGES TO BE FILED SOON

The analysis of forty samples of soft drinks containing saccharine and other adulterants has been completed in the laboratory of the State Board of Health, and cases will be brought against the purveyors of the samples for violation of the law. The samples were gathered all over the State.

While saccharine is the prevailing adulterant used by manufacturers of pops and other soft drinks, the analyses have shown the presence of benzoate of soda and salicylic acid. Two samples of ginger ale showed the presence of both these drugs.

Open Season for Water Fowl Now On

Again the open season for hunting water fowl is here and the nimrods are planning to take advantage of it at once.

Sportsmen who are heeding the call of the wood, field and marsh will be interested in the following provisions to the State game laws, as amended in the recent session of the general assembly:

Ducks, geese, doots, rails, mudhens and all species of water fowl may be killed between September 1 and April 15.

Quail, November 10 to January 1; number one person may kill in a day fifteen.

Rabbits, November 10 to succeeding October 1. A close season for rabbit shooting during October has been provided in order that hunters may not scour the fields and kill young quail while pretending that they are hunting rabbits.

Squirrels, July 1 to October 1. Woodcock, July 1 to January 1. Snipe and plover, any time. Doves, protected during entire year.

Pheasants, prairie chickens, grouse and Hungarians partridges must not be killed until 1915.

It is unlawful to kill wild duck or other waterfowl any time between sunset of the day and sunrise of the next day.

It is unlawful to kill wild birds any time or hunt or shoot on Sunday.

Hunters must have license to hunt anywhere except on land owned or rented by them.

From October 1 to November 10 is a close season for game.

BY THE WAYSIDE

Right in the congested part of the business district, within five feet of "where thousands pass daily" there is a peach tree and more than that it is loaded with peaches. It is at the side of Dr. J. G. Lewis' office and when the peaches get ripe—well nothing has been said about the time when the peaches get ripe. That is, nothing has been said out loud, for down deep in their hearts there are a lot of individuals planning to get a part of the harvest. Even with one saloon going out tonight and the last one going out Saturday night it will still be permissible to say that Rushville has her "peaches" on—that is until the crop is picked.

D. W. Hilligoss, who was the president of the Hilligoss reunion association during the last year, was here early in the week meeting old Rush county friends and many of them did not know him. He is now living at Goldsmith, in Tipton county, and during the last week has undergone a great change. In fact, he has undergone such a change that he hardly knew himself when he looked in the glass. But he had a hunch that he would look different, and other people did not have the same advantage. It is simply this: For thirty-five years he has worn long whiskers and last week he had them shaved off. He looks as though he is not all together, and for that reason many of his friends here did not recognize him.

In Athens there are good dentists and the people take care of their teeth. In the rest of Greece the dentistry is usually performed by the barber, who only pulls teeth.

Mail Must Come In Your Own Name

While it is by no means generally known, there is a law which prohibits persons from receiving mail in assumed names and also prohibiting the sale of lock boxes in postoffices to persons under assumed names, and that the law is being flagrantly violated goes without saying. So flagrant, in fact, are the violations that Postoffice Inspector Fletcher has issued an order that it must be rigidly enforced.

It is claimed that the law is more frequently violated by married women than by any others, yet the violations are by no means wholly confined to them. There are more or less violations at all postoffices in towns or cities of any considerable size and, Rushville is not excepted by any manner of means, and the sweeping order issued by the inspector applies with equal force to Rushville as it does to other postoffices of the State, and it is quite probable that henceforth patrons will receive their mail in their own names or not at all.

BLAKELY FEARS FOR THE CHILDREN

Chief of Department of Inspection Says Many School Buildings Are Not Safe.

NOW WITH LOCAL AUTHORITIES

William E. Blakely, chief of the department of inspection, declares that there will be many school houses occupied this year which should be condemned, because of the change of the inspection law.

"The new law," he says, "puts all the responsibility for changes on the local authorities. Many times we received requests to order changes which local authorities dared not order because of local influence.

"Many evils in school buildings were remedied under the old law, and I fear greatly for the safety of some of Indiana's school children when I know of the conditions that are existing."

PROMINENT MEN AT SWAIN REUNION

Large Attendance at Annual Affair—Mayor of Shelbyville Here.

TO BE HELD AT REEDSVILLE

The last of the visitors who were here for the Swain reunion held at the fair ground Monday returned home yesterday. The reunion is an annual affair and was held for the first time. Over two hundred descendants of the family attended, including many prominent men. A large number of those who attended came from the Little Blue river neighborhood. Also several came from Indianapolis and vicinity, including Tom Swain of the Bliss-Swain Clothing Co. and George Swain, Bert Swain, mayor of Shelbyville and Charles Swain, a postoffice inspector of Cincinnati were present.

Tom Swain of Indianapolis gave a short history of the family, he having just returned from the island of Nantucket, where the family originated and consequently was well acquainted with the facts. At the short business session Alva Swain of Sumner was chosen permanent chairman and Cicero Pitts was elected treasurer. The next gathering will be held at the home of Isaac Swain in Reedville on Labor day of next year.

PEARY WAS SURPRISED

When Told That Dr. Cook Had Beat Him to the Pole.

Indian Harbor, Labrador, via Cape Ray, N. F., Sept. 8.—Commander Hobb. E. Peary appears to be in the best of health and spirits despite his many hardships in the Arctic regions. He is enthusiastic over his success in reaching the goal for which he has so long striven. When told that Dr. Frederick A. Cook of Brooklyn, N. Y., had reported finding the pole, those on board the steamer Roosevelt expressed surprise, but declined to make any statement other than that no traces of any previous expedition had been found.

When Commander Peary returned to the Roosevelt from the far north and announced that he had been successful in finding the pole, there was great rejoicing on board the ship, the whole crew assembling on the deck to welcome the daring explorer and cheering him to the echo. The scene was a memorable one, Commander Peary appearing to be visibly affected by the warmth of the reception.

PUBLISHERS CLAMOR FOR COOK'S WORKS

Highest Bid Ever Made For Similar Matter.

Copenhagen, Sept. 8.—That Dr. Cook's profits from the enterprise are likely to be largely increased is one of the most remarkable results of Commander Peary's rivalry with Dr. Cook for the discovery of the pole. He has received offers for his books and lectures at twice the figures previously tendered. One American of the highest standing cable terms almost startling, and, it is believed, far beyond any sum hitherto paid for such work. Dr. Cook is likely to accept this offer.

The controversy is beginning to wage warmer here. Commander Peary's statement is unanimously accepted as true, but there is a very large following faithful to Dr. Cook. His lecture before the Geographical Society last night, however, added little to the information he had given out with reference to his expedition, and he repeated the declaration of his intention to withhold details until the publication of his book.

The king and queen, Prince and Princess George of Greece, and many of the members of the royal family, together with a large gathering of the most prominent people in Copenhagen, last evening witnessed the presentation to Dr. Cook of a gold medal by the crown prince, and listened to the explorer's lecture afterward. Standing in front of an immense map of the Arctic regions, which was surmounted by the stars and stripes, Dr. Cook outlined his progress to the north pole. In introducing the explorer, the crown prince said that his reception in Greenland and in Copenhagen showed the way the Danes appreciated his wonderful exploit. The prince then begged the honor of presenting to him the medal of the Geographical Society. Dr. Cook told his story and without hesitation, but most of his statements had been given out before.

"It is too early," said the explorer, "to give the general results of the expedition. Time is required to digest the work of polar effort. You have not allowed time in Copenhagen. This northward dash has occupied the minds of men for more than 300 years. Slowly and surely the ladder of latitude has been climbed with various degrees of success. Experience was gained and each expedition profited by the misfortunes of its predecessors. The failure of one expedition led to the success of subsequent efforts."

Then the explorer went over the preparations for his departure and the journey, his recital being similar to that already published. He cleared up the doubts about the lowest temperature recorded, which he reiterated was 83 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. He said he had no doubt that the observations made would prove that he had been on and around the 90th degree.

"If I have been within a circle a kilometre in diameter where the pole is situated," exclaimed the explorer, "I am satisfied that that is quite sufficient for practical purposes. I will say no more until my book is published."

When shown the dispatch which said that Commander Peary claimed to be the first man to reach the pole, Dr. Cook said:

"Commander Peary, of course, can say whatever he wishes. I am not accustomed to indulge in controversies. All I have to say about Commander Peary is that if he says he reached the north pole, I believe he reached the north pole."

Adds Her Congratulations.

Portland, Me., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Frederick A. Cook, whose husband's assertions of having discovered the north pole antedate those of Commander Peary, commented on the reports of Commander Peary having reached the goal of his ambition. Mrs. Cook said: "If Commander Peary has discovered the pole, as I am sure my husband has, I heartily congratulate him."

CHAPTER XXI.

Between Girlhood and Womanhood.

About nine o'clock that night Puss ushered McCloud in from the river. Dickie came running downstairs to meet him. "Your cousin insisted I should come up to the house for some supper," said McCloud, dryly. "I could have taken camp fare with the men. Gordon stayed there with him."

Dickie held his hat in her hand, and her eyes were bright in the firelight. Puss must have thought the two made a handsome couple, for she lingered, as she started for the kitchen, to look back.

"Puss," exclaimed her mistress, "fry a chicken right away! A big one, Puss! Mr. McCloud is very hungry, I know. And be quick, do! Oh, how is the river, Mr. McCloud?"

"Behaving like a lamb. It hasn't fallen much, but the pressure seems to be off the bank, if you know what that means?"

"You must be a magician! Things changed the minute you came!"

"The last doctor usually gets credit for the cure, you know."

"Oh, I know all about that. Don't you want to freshen up? Should you mind coming right to my room? Marion is in here," explained Dickie, "and I am never sure of Cousin Lance's—he has so many boots."

When she had disposed of McCloud she flew to the kitchen. Puss was starting after a chicken. "Take a lantern, Puss!" whispered Dickie, vehemently.

"No, indeed; dis nigger don't need no lantern fo' chickens, Miss Dickie."

"But get a good one, Puss, and make haste, do! Mr. McCloud must be starved! Where is the baking powder? I'll get the biscuits started."

Puss turned fiercely. "Now look-a-heah, yo' can't make biscuits! Yo' jes' go se' down wif dat young gen'm'n! Jes' lemme lone, ef yo' please! Dis ain't de firs' time I killed chickens, Miss Dickie, an' made biscuits. Jes' clair out an' se' down! Place fr' young ladies is in de parlor! Ol' Puss can cook supper fr' one man yet—ef she has to!"

"Oh, yes, Puss, certainly, I know, of course; only, get a nice chicken!" and with the parting admonition Dickie, smoothing her hair wildly, hastened back to the living room.

But the harm was done. Puss, more excited than her mistress, lost her head when she got to the chicken-yard, and with sufficiently bad results. When Dickie ran out a few moments afterward for a glass of water for McCloud, Puss was calmly wiping her hands, and in the sink lay the quivering form of young Caesar. Dickie caught her favorite up by the legs and suppressed a cry. There could be no mistake. She cast a burning look on Puss. It would do no good to storm now. Dickie only wrung her hands and returned to McCloud.

He rose in the happiest mood. He could not see what a torment Dickie was in, and took the water without asking himself why it trembled in her hand. Her restrained manner did not worry him, for he felt that his fight at the river was won, and the prospect of fried chicken composed him. Even the long hour before Puss, calm and inviting in a white cap and apron, appeared to announce supper, passed like a dream. When Dickie rose to lead the way to the dining room, McCloud walked on air; the high color about her eyes intoxicated him. Not till half the fried chicken, with many compliments from McCloud, had disappeared, and the plate had gone out for the second dozen biscuits did he notice Dickie's abstraction.

"I'm sure you need worry no longer about the water," he observed, reassuringly. "I think the worst of the danger is past."

Dickie looked at the tablecloth with wide-open eyes. "I feel sure that it is. I am no longer worrying about that."

"It's nothing I can do or leave undone, is it?" asked McCloud, laughing a little as he implied in his tone that she must be worrying about something.

Dickie made a gesture of alarm. "Oh, no, no; nothing!"

"It's a pretty good plan not to worry about anything."

"Do you think so?"

"Why, we all thought so last night. Heavens!" McCloud drew back in his chair. "I never offered you a piece of chicken! What have I been thinking of?"

"Oh, I wouldn't eat it anyway!" cried Dickie.

"You wouldn't? It is delicious. Do have a plate and a wing at least."

"Really, I could not bear to think of it," she said, pathetically.

He spoke lower. "Something is troubling you. I have no right to a confidence, I know," he added, taking a biscuit.

Her eyes fell to the floor. "It is nothing. Pray, don't mind me. May I fill your cup?" she asked, looking up. "I am afraid I worry too much over what has happened and can't be helped. Do you never do that?"

McCloud, laughing wretchedly, tore Caesar's last leg from his body. "No, indeed. I never worry over what can't be helped."

They left the dining room. Marion came down. But they had hardly seated themselves before the living room fire when a messenger arrived with word that McCloud was wanted at the river. His chagrin at being dragged away was so apparent that Marion and Dickie sympathized with him and laughed at him. "I never worry about what can't be helped," Dickie murmured.

He looked at Marion. "That's a shot at me. You don't want to go down, do you?" he asked, ironically, looking from one to the other.

"Why, of course, I'll go down," responded Dickie, promptly. "Marion caught cold last night, I guess, so you will excuse her, I know. I will be back in an hour, Marion, and you can toast your cold while I'm gone."

"But you mustn't go alone!" protested McCloud.

Dickie lifted her chin the least bit. "I shall be going with you, shall I not? And if the messenger has gone back I shall have to guide you. You never could find your way alone."

"But I can go," interposed Marion, rising.

"Not at all; you can not go!" announced Dickie. "I can protect both Mr. McCloud and myself. If he should arrive down there under the wing of two women he would never hear the last of it. I am mistress here still, I think; and I sha'n't be leaving home, you know, to make the trip!"

McCloud looked at Marion. "I never worry over what can't be helped—though it is dollars to cents that those fellows don't need me down there any more than a cat needs two tails. And how will you get back?" he asked, turning to Dickie.

"I will ride back!" returned Dickie, lightly. "But you may, if you like, help me get my horse up."

"Are you sure you can find your way back?" persisted McCloud.

Dickie looked at him in surprise. "Find my way back?" she echoed, softly. "I could not lose it. I can ride over any part of this country at noon or at midnight, asleep or awake, with a saddle or without, with a bridle or without, with a trail or without. I've ridden every horse that has ever come on the Crawling Stone ranch. I could ride when I was three years old. Find my way back?"

The messenger had gone when the two rode from the house. The sky was heavily overcast, and the wind blew such a gale from the south and west that one could hardly hear what the other said. McCloud could not have ridden from the house to the barn in the utter darkness, but his horse followed Dickie's. She halted frequently on the trail for him to come up with her, and after they had crossed the alfalfa fields McCloud did not care whether they ever found the path again or not. "It's great, isn't it?" he exclaimed, coming up to her after opening a gate in the dark. "Where are you?"

"This way," laughed Dickie. "Look out for the trail here. Give me your hand and let your horse have his head. If he slips, drop off quick on this side." McCloud caught her hand. They rode for a moment in silence, the horses stepping cautiously. "All right now," said Dickie; "you may let go." But McCloud kept his horse up

HOUSEHOLD CARES.

Tax the Women of Rushville the Same as Elsewhere.

Hard to attend to household duties. With a constantly aching back.

A woman should not have a bad back.

And she wouldn't if the kidneys were well.

Doan's Kidney Pills make well kidneys.

Here is a Rushville woman who endorses this claim:

Mrs. William Merrill, 332 West Fourth street, Rushville, Ind., says: "For a long time my back was very weak and I had a constant, dull pain across my kidneys. I felt weary and languid and dreaded to do housework of any kind. Some time ago my husband obtained a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s drug store and since using them, I have improved in every way. I have a very high opinion of this remedy." Fir sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MORE NEWS OF THE SCIENTIST

And His Great Discovery That is Doing so Much Good.

The Root Juice scientist said that most of the troubles common to humanity originate in the stomach, and he is proving it by the hundreds of remarkable cures his discovery is making all over the country. The people at Wolcott's drug store have undoubted proofs from many well-known people of the State. Over at Lafayette, Ind., Mrs. Frank Kerst, a sister of Ex-Governor Hanly, derived so much good from the great remedy that she permitted her name to be published in her home papers for the benefit of those who suffer as she did. The following was recently published by the Peoria Journal: "The people of Peoria no longer doubt. Root Juice has done so much good for so many people of this city that there is hardly a neighborhood where the great medicine has not made several wonderful cures. Mrs. Sarah Bussinger of South Adams street, said, 'For ten years I have suffered with indigestion and constipation and was so nervous and irritable that people called me old cross-patch. My complexion was very sallow and I suffered much with my back and side. I have used hardly three bottles of Root Juice and as you see my complexion is clear and free from blemishes. My back and side have ceased to pain me and my food no longer lays and ferments in my stomach. I feel well and strong and my nerves are perfect. I am telling all of my friends of the wonderful good and great remedy did for me.' Mr. Andrew Tucker, who is well and favorably known here, said, 'I want to tell you Root Juice is the most wonderful medicine on earth. I suffered for many years and took enough medicine to fill a barrel, but my combination of stomach, liver, kidney and other troubles continued to grow worse. I said I will not give up so I kept on trying without any benefit until I commenced with Root Juice. I am now on my third bottle and have gained ten pounds. I am entirely free from pain. I can eat anything and digest it, and can sleep like a baby.'"

The people at the drug store are well posted regarding the remedy and are glad to explain it.

close and clung to the warm hand. "The camp is just around the hill," murmured Dickie, trying to pull away. "But of course if you would like to ride in holding my hand you may!"

"No," said McCloud, "of course not—not for worlds! But, Miss Dickie, couldn't we ride back to the house and ride around the other way into camp? I think the other way into the camp—say, around by the railroad bridge—would be prettier, don't you?"

For answer she touched Jim lightly with her lines and his spring released her hand very effectively. As she did so the trail turned, and the camp-fire, whipped in the high wind, blazed before them.

Whispering Smith and Lance Dunning were sitting together as the two galloped up. Smith helped Dickie to alight. She was conscious of her color and her eyes were now unduly bright. Moreover, Whispering Smith's glance rested so calmly on both McCloud's face and her own that Dickie felt as if he saw quite through her and knew everything that had happened since they left the house.

Lance was talking to McCloud. "Don't abuse the wind," McCloud was saying. "It's our best friend to-night, Mr. Dunning. It is blowing the water off-shore. Where is the trouble?" For answer Dunning led McCloud off toward the bend, and Dickie was left alone with Whispering Smith.

He made a seat for her on the windward side of the big fire. When she had seated herself she looked up in great contentment to ask if he was not going to sit down beside her. The brown coat, the high black hat, and the big eyes of Whispering Smith had already become a part of her mental store. She saw that he seemed pre-occupied, and sought to draw him out of his abstraction.

"I am so glad you and Mr. McCloud (To be continued.)"

WORKMEN WIN GREAT VICTORY

McKees Rocks Strikers Gain All Points.

WORK TO BE RESUMED AT ONCE

Practically All the Demands Made by the Five Thousand Men Who Have Been on Strike For Nearly Two Months at the Plant of the Pressed Steel Car Works Have Been Granted—Among Concessions Is a Guarantee That Better Conditions Will Prevail at Big Mill.

Pittsburg, Sept. 8.—The costly strike which has been in progress fifty-three days at the plant of the Pressed Steel Car company is over and peace and quiet will again reign in McKees Rocks. The workmen, numbering over 5,000, have won a complete victory. Beginning tomorrow morning they will return to work a thousand a day.

While formal action declaring the trouble at an end will not be taken until the vote which is being cast by the men today is counted, the chairman of the strikers' executive committee, stated that the employees of the big plant will unanimously decide to return to work tomorrow. Practically all the demands made by the men, he said, have been granted by the company. The one point, that is an increase in wages, which postponed the settlement Monday has been compromised. The men asked that a notice be posted fixing a date when the 1907 wage scale, an advance of 15 per cent over this year's scale, would be paid them. The company would not consent to this, but it is said it has promised to pay the 1907 rate of wages as soon as present contracts are filled. This will be in sixty days.

Among the changes agreed to by the company are as follows: No Sunday work hereafter; half holiday on Saturday; the promise of an increase in wages; the indefinite suspension of T. A. Farrell, chief of the company police; a printed list of prices to be paid will be exhibited in all departments, so the men will know exactly what they are to receive for piece work, and a guarantee that better conditions are to prevail throughout the big mill.

TO TIE UP OIL FIELD

This Is Opinion Regarding $30,000,000 Deal in Illinois.

Robinson, Ill., Sept. 8.—An oil deal of considerable magnitude which has been pending for several months between the Ohio oil company, and the Jennings brothers, together with the Kenesbee oil company, of which the Jennings brothers are part owners, has just been closed. The consideration for the holdings in Clark, Crawford and Lawrence counties, in Illinois, is $3,000,000, and in addition to the Illinois field, the Jennings brothers transfer all their holdings in the different oil fields for an additional consideration of $27,000,000, which includes the pipelines and every adjunct thereto.

It is the opinion of the independent producers here that it is an attempt to tie up the Illinois field and that the property was paid for in stock of the Standard oil company.

WATCHMAN LAID UP

He Charges "Ty" Cobb With Assault With Intent to Kill.

Cleveland, Sept. 8.—A warrant charging "Ty" Cobb, right fielder of the Detroit American League baseball team, with assault with intent to kill, has been sworn out before Justice William Brown by J. J. Klein, attorney for George Stanfield, night watchman at the Euclid hotel, who it is said was assaulted by the ball player in the hotel Saturday.

Stanfield signed the affidavit in his room at the hotel, as it was said he is too weak to leave his bed. A detective employed by a private agency has gone to Detroit, where Cobb is now playing, to serve the warrant.

He Ended His Rheumatic Pains. South Bend, Ind., Sept. 8.—Mark Remington, age sixty-eight, a prominent citizen of Bangor, Mich., rather than suffer rheumatic pains committed suicide by shooting himself in the temple. Remington had been engaged in selling patent medicine to farmers in this locality for some time.

Tom Johnson Renominated.

Cleveland, Sept. 8.—Tom L. Johnson, three times mayor of Cleveland, was renominated for that position on the Democratic ticket at the primary election held here Tuesday. Herman C. Baehr is the Republican nominee for the same position. A heavy vote was cast by both sides.

No Change For the Worse.

Arden, N. Y., Sept. 8.—After a night of uncertainty it was determined today that E. H. Harriman is not in such a critical condition as earlier reports indicated. Dr. Lyle said emphatically there was no cause for alarm and that Mr. Harriman had had no change for the worse.

WORLD AWAITS MORE DETAILS

Peary Expected to Reach
Port Today.

TRIUMPH IN THE FAR NORTH

Intrepid Explorer on His Steamship, the Roosevelt, May Reach North Sydney Late This Afternoon, When Further Details of His Victory Over the Frozen North Will Be Given to the World—Hundreds of Congratulatory Messages Have Winged Their Way Northward to Greet the Traveler.

New York, Sept. 8.—Having "nailed the stars and stripes to the pole" on April 6, 1909, as told in his series of messages flashed by wireless from the coast of Labrador, Commander Robert E. Peary is figuratively lost to the world, homeward bound on his ship, the Roosevelt. Commander Peary on the Arctic expedition's steamer Roosevelt, according to best reckoning, is in the vicinity of the strait of Belle Isle, between Newfoundland and the province of Quebec. But it is uncertain at what port he will touch first to amplify his first meager news. Inadequate telegraphic facilities on the Labrador coast and the northwest coast of New Foundland may move him to decide to proceed on southward to North Sydney, Cape Breton, before he gives to the world details of his triumph in the far north.

Commander Peary had intended stopping at Chateau Bay, Labrador, but the telegraph station there was abandoned some time ago, and the Roosevelt must push her nose farther south before the world obtains the news. As she comes down the Newfoundland coast, Red bay and, further south, St. George bay, are at hand, but whether Peary will avail himself of these points or continue to North Sydney, where he will have every facility, is a matter of conjecture. It is 450 miles from Chateau bay to North Sydney, and the time of his arrival can only be guessed. The Roosevelt may reach there late today.

With her husband's plans uncertain and with no specific message to meet him, Mrs. Peary is waiting at her home at Eagle Island, Me., in readiness to depart for North Sydney.

Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club, left New York for North Sydney last night. In addition to greetings from the Peary Arctic club, Mr. Bridgman carries this message from the Explorers' club, of which Commander Peary and Dr. Cook are both members:

"The Explorers' club sends you heartfelt congratulations upon your triumphant attainment of the long-sought goal—the north pole." Anthony Fiala, who commanded one of the Zeigler expeditions to the pole, is a member of the board of directors sending the message.

Several additional messages filed Monday at Indian Harbor have been received by associates of Commander Peary, but none of them gave any further details of his conquest. Through Mr. Bridgman he notified all geographic societies of the world of his discovery and in addition sent a personal dispatch to the National Geographical society at Washington, saying:

"Have won at last. The pole is ours."

In a message to Director Bumpus of the American Museum of Natural History in New York, he announced that he is bringing home a valuable collection for the institution. Thousands of congratulatory messages have been sent in return to the explorer, two of the most notable of which are from Lieutenant Shackleton, the English Antarctic explorer, and Major Leonard Darwin, president of the Royal Geographical society. The National Geographical society called a meeting immediately after receiving Peary's message and quickly telegraphed a reply of hearty praise. The New York Zoological society sent its echo of the world-wide praise through its president in this city, while hundreds of less important messages winged their way northward to meet the returning traveler.

ASCIENTIST SPEAKS

Prof. Lecointe Says There Is Honor Enough For Both Explorers.

Brussels, Sept. 8.—Prof. Lecointe, director of the Royal Observatory, said: "The announcement of Commander Peary is quite admissible, and it is not astonishing that he found the pole in a shorter time than Dr. Cook. Peary knows the polar regions better than any other man in the world. Nor is it surprising that Cook and Peary did not meet, as the icebergs at the pole are in constant motion; furthermore, Cook came out to the west and Peary to the east of Greenland. Peary's discovery does not alter the position of Dr. Cook. Both men are wonderful explorers."

A negro who attempted to criminally assault a young woman near Mangham, La., was captured by infuriated citizens and drowned in a creek.

HORSES SCARCE AROUND HERE NOW

Consequently the Price is High—
Most Any Kind of Animals is Worth $150.

IN THE FACE OF AUTOMOBILES

Never in the history of the country were good horses worth so much as right now, nor were they ever as scarce as at the present time. Most any kind of an animal is worth $150, and you must not expect anything very good for that price. The reason for the scarcity of horse flesh is said to be that the farmers have not the pasture room or the time to care for brood mares, and have allowed the horse supply to run low in this part of the State, on account of horse buyers scouring the market for horses for the city markets.

The fellow who thought electricity and automobiles were going to put the horse in the background has another guess coming.

YOUNG BENNETT UP BEFORE MAYOR

Given a Lecture and Set Free—Joy
Riding Has Been a Common Practice.

BELIEVE IT IS BROKEN UP

Willie Bennett, who took Walter E. Smith's bicycle from in front of the Miller law building yesterday afternoon and later ran into an automobile breaking the front wheel, was up before Mayor Cowing this morning. He was given a lecture and warned not to repeat the trick or he would probably be dealt with more summarily. The accident revealed the fact that this has been a common practice among a certain class of boys.

City Marshal Price believes that he has the gang frightened now that there will be no more trouble from that source. The marshal started to take Young Bennett to jail yesterday evening, but the boy begged so for his freedom that he was allowed to go free after he had promised to appear in Mayor's court this morning.
